Residential Coils & Air Handling Units

COMFORT

The latent capacity of an air conditioning system determines how well it can remove humidity from the air in your home. Thermal Zone systems are designed to have very high latent capacity. With lower humidity levels inside, you can remain cool and comfortable, no matter what is happening outside.

Thermal Zone units combine solid steel construction, thick insulation and multiple speed motors (AHU) help to keep the noise levels in your home at a minimum.

AFFORDABLE

With easy access panels and standardized parts, you can be sure that servicing your Thermal Zone air conditioning system will be fast and simple, keeping maintenance costs to a minimum.

Your new Thermal Zone air conditioning system has a 10-Year Limited Warranty on all parts,¹ so you can enjoy many years of worry-free comfort.

Financing options are available. Ask your Thermal Zone dealer, or go to www.ThermalZone.com for details.

RELIABLE

Factory-installed thermal expansion valves allow your Thermal Zone air conditioning system to continually adapt to conditions inside your home. As a result, you will be more comfortable, and the system will not work any harder than it needs to.

Thermal Zone indoor units use a traditional aluminum tube & fin design to deliver consistent, reliable comfort, and reduce the risk of corrosion.

Thermal Zone indoor units have a factory installed leak detection and an integrated dissipation system for improved safety.

EFFICIENT

With efficiency ratings up to 16 SEER 2, Thermal Zone has the perfect system for you.

Low GWP Refrigerant

The global warming potential of R454B is 78% lower than R410A, used in most HVAC systems prior to 2025.
